

Anne Linder. An independent authorized psychologist and center manager of the Danish Center for ICDP (International Child Development Program) She has for more than twenty years taught psychologist, childcare and family departments, treatment institutions, family care consultants, family of care, healthcare professionals, teachers and educators, etc. in professional relations work. She is the author of a wide range of books about professional relations work, an understanding that integrates positive psychology with developmental psychology. The books are translated into several languages.