

Laure Reynaud

ScholaVie

Laure Reynaud taught in primary school and then high school for 17 years. She founded ScholaVie with Ilona Boniwell early 2016. ScholaVie designs, tests and provides positive education programs, tools and training to develop well-being and resilience skills in children and teenagers in both school and family settings.

Together, she and Ilona have recently founded the IREP, the Institute for research in positive education, in order to carry out and accelerate research in this field in France. They also wrote a book called PEPS, Parcours d'Education Positive et Scientifique (Positive and Scientific education course) book that will be published mid-january to editions lededuc.
