

Peter J. Schulz

University of Lugano

Peter J. Schulz is Professor of Communication Theory and Director of the Institute of Communication and Health at the University of Lugano (Università della Svizzera Italiana). His recent work in the field of health communication research focuses on health literacy and empowerment, doctor-patient communication, and on parental communication and media effect in the health domain.